Historic Places Make Life Better!

The Alabama Trust for Historic Preservation is the voice for the future of Alabama's historic places.

The rich and diverse history of the great state of Alabama continues to be reflected through thousands of historic buildings and places in literally every corner of the state. These places have the unique ability to remind present and future generations in a tangible and meaningful way about the events that shaped our collective experience. They inspire us with the stories of those who built their communities, fought for their beliefs, and overcame all manner of personal challenge.

But there is also a great practical side to preserving the historic places that matter to us - the dollars and cents of revitalizing communities and returning to sustainable development patterns. Our historic places are essential assets for downtown and neighborhood revitalization and for the state's growing heritage tourism industry. And in a world where environmental sustainability is becoming ever more critical, they represent one of the greenest approaches to providing places in which to live and work. It is why we call historic preservation the original green.

The Alabama Trust is a membership organization that is supported by individuals, families, and groups from all over the state. Your support is needed!
